

Head Coach Red Devils

THE RBFA

Football is a daily passion for more than half a million Belgians. Football connects and unites us. It is in our DNA. As the Royal Belgian Football Association, we have been organising our sport at all levels for over 126 years. We apply our knowledge, experience and enthusiasm every day to our mission: the organisation and development of football in our country.

With its new base camp in Tubize, the RBFA has a fully-fledged national football centre. It is the beating heart of Belgian football. A brand new complex, modern and ecologically designed with all the necessary facilities and technologies.

The Red Devils were number one in the world rankings for four years, qualified for four consecutive final tournaments and finished third place at the World Cup in Russia. But the early elimination at the World Cup in Qatar was disappointing. However, all elements are in place to be successful again in the future. It is up to the new national team coach to work with what is in place and lead us to new successes.

PROFILE

Our new national team coach is extremely ambitious and has the necessary top-level international experience, tactical knowledge and insights as well as the right personal skills.

We are looking for a serial winner with an experience in managing top players. The new national team coach knows how to focus on creating a close-knit group and how to integrate young players. He is a tactical expert who supports his choices with data, technology and objective parameters and draws on RBFA's sporting expertise and structure. He knows how to win trophies in top competitions.

The new national team coach is an ambassador for Belgian football, helping to promote the RBFA values and is available full time.
